

1275 Killer Headlines for Real Estate Ads that Sell

When you want to sell your properties, you must write your headlines so your buyers will open your post to look at your ads. Most buyers scan the headlines before they open the ad. Your ad must stand out from the crowd. It starts with the headline. We've experimented with many over the years. Some have worked better than others.

What I have learned is less is more. What I mean by that is less words, more feelings. Features tell and stories sell. By putting your buyer in the property of their dreams emotionally, you are giving them what they want. At the same time, you are getting what you want. And that is a happy buyer.

Here are a few that have worked well over the years. You are welcome to use any, and all that you want. You may also find it best to mix and match words from a few different ones. And while you are crafting your killer headline, have fun!

Theses headlines will get you started. Some of them work very well and some can be mixed and matched as they appropriately apply to your situation. The headline is crucial when you are selling anything. If people don't open your ad, you are wasting your time.

Do you have a headline that has worked well for you? Let me know what works for you. I'm always curious as to what is working for you. Send your comments, questions, and messages to theDealionaire@gmail.com

John Lee is the founder of Secrets of a Dealionaire™ OTC Premier Signature Series ©2021

John believes everyone deserves a better life without all the sacrifice that comes with a second job or a stressful job.

A better life can come from just an extra few hundred dollars per month. This can give you more time for your family, loved ones and the things you really want to do.

All privately owned Real Estate comes with tax bills. Every county needs tax dollars for roads, sidewalks, parks and schools. For the most part our taxes do us a lot of good.

When people get behind in their real estate taxes there are usually other things going on in their lives and many times, they do not know what to do. They are looking for solutions and most don't know where to turn for help.

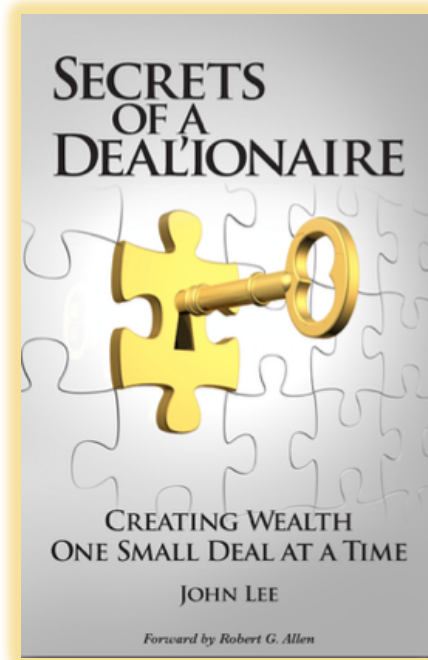

These problems cause stress for many who are behind in real estate taxes. Solving them is his specialty. That why he created the OTC Premier Signature Series including Ultimate Freedom where you'll discover how to turn $200 into $2,000 with about 2 hours' worth of work.

The very best to you!
